Chaplain E. W. Scott Goes to Naval Academy

Under orders made public by the Navy Department this morning, Chaplain Evan W. Scott will succeed Chaplain H. H. Clark at the United States Naval Academy in Annapolis, Md., on June 20.

Chaplain Scott, who has the rank of lieutenant, has been stationed at the naval training station at San Francisco and has been conducting services aboard the U. S. S. Pensacola in the harbor there.

The ordering of Chaplain Scott to duty at the Naval Academy came as a surprise, for on the retirement of Chaplain Clark it was rumored that Chaplain C. Q. Wright would get the place. Chaplain Clark is the father of Midshipman C. Q. Wright, who was graduated from the Academy this month and was one of the star football men on the team of last season.

Ghodsea F. Ashrof Kharnouf, of Teheran, Persia, made the regular Sunday afternoon meeting of the Bahaists in the McNeal studio at the Portland of unusual interest. She sang a chant of the Persians, among whom the Bahaist religion was born.

President William F. Hear, of the Persian-American Educational Society, was present at the meeting, and talked of Beha-Ullah, the founder of the religion, which is intended to be a syncretical harmony of other religions.

Corpus Christi Services Are Held at St. Dominic's

Very beautiful, solemn and impressive were the Corpus Christi services at St. Dominic's Catholic Church yesterday. From the time of the celebration of the solemn high mass of exposition at 10 o'clock in the morning, the Blessed Sacrament was exposed all day. In the procession in the evening there were 2350 girls, boys and men.

During the hours of the exposition there was a constant watch kept before the Blessed Sacrament by the members of the Holy Name Society and the Confraternity of the Blessed Sacrament. While the procession was on its way around the church two benedictions were given at the side altars. The services yesterday were in charge of Rev. J. R. Meagher, pastor of the church, the celebrant of the mass in the morning and of the benediction in the afternoon was the Rev. James C. Timony, O. P., the Rev. M. J. Kennedy, O. P., was deacon, and the Rev. J. A. Cowan, O. P., subdeacon.
